CARIBBEAN JOURNAL RANKS COCO PALM IN TOP TEN Coco Palm Placed in Top 10 Rooms You Can Swim Up To

RODNEY BAY VILLAGE, SAINT LUCIA (21 January 2016) Coco Palm ranked in the top ten hotels offering rooms guests can swim right up to in the recent poll by Caribbean Journal. The Luxe Swim Up room has long been a favourite and the six rooms have become the most requested category of the 103 rooms on offer at the award winning boutique hotel.

Managing Director, Allen Chastanet, noted “Had we known just how popular these rooms would be we would have certainly allowed for more. Not only are they ideal for couples and families who can simply step on to their patio to go for a swim without walking through the lobby, it is also one of our higher revenue generating room categories which helps our bottom line.”

“We have guests that request these rooms months in advance” says General Manager Jean St Rose. “In fact, St Rose noted, there are times our long staying guests overlap and we have a fight for them as guests can have a swim any time as well as swim out to the bar and restaurant at KoKo Cabana. Most of all, they can stay on their patio and maco the scene without leaving their room!”

Coco Pam recently celebrated their tenth anniversary and expanded their conference facilities with Palm Gardens as the Rodney Bay Village becomes a main attraction for guests.

Caribbean Journal was founded in 2011 with one vision: to provide news, commentary and analysis in a way that the Caribbean had not yet seen. It is now the Caribbean’s leading digital newspaper, with 24/7, original content covering news, travel, politics and opinion from more than 20 countries and territories. Caribbean Journal’s Travel section is the premier source for Caribbean travel and trade news — from the latest hotel openings to secret vacation escapes. And CJ’s Opinion section provides a central platform for the region’s best ideas. Caribbean Journal – One Region, One News Source.
